

Meet Mari Copeny

Mari Copeny made a big difference in her hometown of Flint, Michigan, when she was just eight years old. Her community was in a crisis—their water was polluted, and leaders weren't doing enough to help. Mari wrote a letter to President Obama—and he wrote back! Together, they came up with a plan to help. Mari proves that you can create meaningful change at any age. Use the key below to uncover some inspiring messages from this incredible changemaker!

Help Greta Cross the Ocean

When Greta Thunberg realized how big an issue climate change is, she changed a lot of things in her own life to help. For instance, she stopped traveling in airplanes to reduce her carbon footprint. Instead, Greta travels to events and speaking engagements by boat! Can you help her navigate the high seas in the maze below?

Bring Back the Color

Bindi's life at the Australia Zoo is full of color! She's surrounded by bright green trees, orange and black striped tigers, and birds with rainbow feathers. In the picture below, though, all the color is missing! Grab your favorite markers, crayons, or colored pencils and fill it in. While you're coloring, scan the code to listen to Bindi's story on the Rebel Girls app.
